Golfing

Put some colour in your cheeks, enjoy some company and test your prowess with a round of golf at one of our nine hole courses.

The personal challenge of golf has its origins in Scotland in the 15th century. The game was played with a pebble and a stick around a natural course of sand dunes, rabbit runs and tracks, a far cry from the manicured courses we know today. At Khancoban Golf Club - a grass green in a picturesque setting overlooking the mountains - early mornings and evening you will be joined by a number of kangaroos to remind you that you're not very far from the bush.

The game is taken seriously by local golfers who play at various levels but will welcome visitors at these clubs:

Cellar Doors

Tumbarumba is well known as an area that produces good quality cool climate wines. Planting commenced in 1982 and there are now around 30 vineyards producing sparkling and table wines. The majority of the Pinot Noir and Chardonnay grown in the region continue to be used for sparkling wine with these two varieties accounting for 75 percent of the total plantings and a testament to the cool climate.

The local supermarkets carry most of the wines produced from Tumbarumba vines, and you can visit the following vineyards for a taste:
